Présentation rapide des outils

- Github pour la gestion des dépôts (<https://github.com>)
- SonarQube pour l'audit de code (<https://sonarcloud.io>)
- Travis-ci pour l'interaction entre github et sonarqube (<https://travis-ci.org>)

Fonctionnement du Workflow

Travis-CI

Service en ligne d'outils de développement continue semblable à Jenkins.

Permet d'exécuter des scripts, analyser le code (pylint, jshint, ...) entre autres sonarqube.

Permet de publier les résultats de sonarqube sur sonarcloud.io

Basé sur des containers ubuntu instancier à la volée.

SonarQube / Sonarcloud

Sonarcloud.io est le service en ligne de publication de résultat sonarqube.

SonarQube analyse le code suivant 3 axes majeurs:

- Reliability: section de code pouvant générer un bug
- Security: section de code pouvant générer une brèche de sécurité
- Maintainability: section de code difficile à maintenir (complexité du code, ...)

SonarQube analyse aussi la couverture des jeux de test et la duplication de code

SonarQube / Sonarcloud

SonarQube doit être utilisé comme un outil d'aide au développement. Il se base sur des conventions (nommage, modèle de code, ...) qui peuvent être discutable.

Certains réglages sont nécessaire pour s'adapter aux contraintes du projet (code tiers qui impose certaines syntaxes, ...)

SonarQube n'est pas un outil d'évaluation du code mais d'analyse du code.

Merci
